Check Out Robots at the Library
Learn to build and program robots in the comfort of your home with the Sierra Madre Public Library’s Robotics Kits. Two different kits are available for check out:

- The Dash Kit allows users to program and interact with a motorized robot named Dash as you explore block coding. Ideal for adults and kids ages 6 & up to learn the basics of coding and programming. No experience necessary. Kits include: a Dash robot, an iPad mini, and a getting started guide.

- The Cubelets Kit allows users to learn to build a basic robot using magnetic cubes that interact with each other and their environment. Easy to use and a fun way to learn. Ideal for adults and kids ages 6 & up. Engaging and intuitive, Cubelets are an easy way to design robots. Kits include: 16 Cubelets that sense, think, and act, a hard book, and a getting started guide.

Put these kits on hold today at www.sierramadre.bibliomax.com.
